

FOR SUCH A TIME AS THIS

At a time of deep divisions in our country, we face numerous challenges to the vision of a just and equal society - from deepening inequality to separation of families at our border to voter disenfranchisement during the 2020 election year and more.

FOR SUCH A TIME AS THIS

This is also a time of great hope. In recent years, we've seen people organize and mobilize in unprecedented numbers to build the country we know we can be.

In the summer of 2020, faith communities across the country will devote time to envision who we are called to be and to put faith into action. We will stand up to create change.

FOR SUCH A TIME AS THIS

Social Justice Summer 2020 is a national call to action for congregations and other faith communities to a dedicated time of social justice-themed worship, study, small group discussion, and action.

For 4-6 weeks during Summer 2020, congregations and other faith communities are invited to offer

social justice book study

social justice sermon series

small group discussion, and at least one social justice action.
